That ain't my story, somethin's lyin' in wait for me

Just like the hunted, it's somethin' that I can't see

In a race against time in a rifle sight

What do you do when it's not gonna be all right?

I could joke and say I'm one of the chosen few

But my hope's are suspended like a wind that never blew

The day they told me, wouldn't you know the sun was shining like gold

Kids were laughing and playing in the park, I'd had my fortune told

My future shattered, and the rope got tight

What do you do when it's not gonna be all right?

When you know there's no answer and words are something people say

It's easy to get lost in the hassles that happen everyday

But that's just a trap that saps your energy and time

And I have to remember to make the most of mine

The dream's been altered but it still takes flight

What do you do when it's not gonna be all right?
